

Modern, sophisticated and reliable

These are the words Colin Barrett of Rosewood Farm, near Melton Constable, uses to describe their Fendt 720.

Colin explains: “Our Fendt 720 is the only large tractor on the farm, so we need total reliability, however, we know that should we need assistance, the Sculthorpe branch will do everything they can to help us - the service we receive is excellent.”

Fendt tractors have been running on the farm for four years and the 720 is the second Fendt to be used.

Rosewood Farm has 300 acres plus an additional 100 acres of rented land and Colin engages in some contracting work - and this is where the versatility of the Fendt comes to the fore.

Colin adds: “The Fendt is so versatile, it does everything from light cultivation and heavy cultivation through to drilling, baling and mowing on the farm.

We opted for a new tractor because we wanted a modern, sophisticated and reliable machine - and that is what we have found in the Fendt.”

Contract work includes full cereal operations as well as all grassland requirements from establishment to harvesting. From pulling a 16 tonne grain trailer on one day, through to sub-soiler work, ploughing or drilling the next - the Fendt excels in all areas.

Adam Inward, Fendt Specialist for Norfolk, adds: “The 700 series from Fendt offers outstanding performance for both field and road operation. With a better overview thanks to the large VisioPlus cab screen, all functions located in one terminal and both seat and cab suspension for maximum operator comfort, this range is perfect for those who need their tractor to perform well at a multitude of tasks.”

Colin summarises the performance of the Fendt: “With the 720 we have the compactness you would expect from a small tractor, with the HP and performance of a large tractor, it really is the complete package for us.”
